

Transgender Healthcare

An Interactive Introductory Workshop

Wednesday 25 November 2020

Virtual Event via Zoom

12.00pm Registration and Lunch , 12.30pm Welcome and 4.30pm, Close

The workshop will discuss the wider historical, social and legal contexts of gender diversity. We will discuss the transgender healthcare of gender diverse patients; this will include models of care, clinical practise and gender affirming treatments (including cross sex hormone treatment and gender affirming surgery), and the evidence and outcomes. We will provide a forum for interactive discussion about the wider clinical care of gender diverse patients, drawing from the evidence and experience.

After attending this course delegates will be able to:

- Discuss the wider historical, social, cultural and legal contexts of gender diversity
- Outline transgender healthcare, gender affirming treatments and their access within the NHS
- Inform their own practise with gender diverse patients

About our speaker:

I work at the Nottingham Centre for Transgender Health (NCTH), a large national service, as transgender healthcare specialist. During my time at NCTH I have provided transgender healthcare including assessments, recommendations for readiness for treatment, ongoing individualised holistic follow up care, recommendations for gender affirming surgeries and also Medical Reports for the Gender Recognition Panel.

I have undertaken and published research in this area, particularly in the co-occurrence with Autism Spectrum Conditions, and presented (inter)nationally, including at the British Association of Gender Identity Specialists (BAGIS), RCPsych, European and World Associations of Transgender Health (EPATH and WPATH) international conferences.

I am also passionate about the development and delivery of training and clinical education in transgender healthcare. I am Module Co-Lead for the Royal College of Physicians (RCP) and University of London's Gender Identity Healthcare PG Cert/ PG Dip course. At NCTH, I have developed Special Study Modules for medical students, electives and insight visits for clinicians in transgender healthcare. I have taught, lectured and trained locally, regionally and nationally.
