

Fitness to Plead and Fitness to be Interviewed

Thursday 7 October 2021

Virtual Event via Zoom

12.15pm Registration/Login, 12.30pm Welcome and 4.30pm, Close

The outcome of your comment on a person's fitness to be interviewed and fitness to plead will greatly impact the Criminal Justice Process, and you may be asked to justify your findings in court.

This seminar gives you a good understanding of the processes. You will learn the difference between the assessments of fitness to be interviewed by the police, and fitness to plead in court. You will learn about the safeguards and consequences for people found unfit. The outcome of this seminar is for you to enable fair, robust and legal procedures on behalf of mentally disordered detainees and allow you to give reliable evidence in court.

After attending this Essentials course you will:

- be able to give evidence in court to support your findings
- understand the process of assessing fitness to be interviewed and fitness to plead
- understand the safeguards for those found unfit

About our speaker:

Dr Mike Ventress is dual trained in forensic and adult psychiatry. He has worked in both medium and low secure settings as a consultant forensic psychiatrist for 13 years. He has substantial experience in providing opinions for solicitors, courts and the Crown Prosecution Service in respect of fitness to plead, often in complex cases. He has a particular interest in mental health law and has a Master's degree in the subject. He is co-author of a paper on fitness to be interviewed published in Advances in Psychiatric Treatment.
