

Burnout Prevention

Tuesday 6th October 2020

Virtual via Zoom

5.45pm Registration/Login , 6.00pm Welcome and 8.00pm Close

NHS Data shows that anxiety, stress, depression and other psychiatric illnesses account for nearly a quarter of the staff absences in their yearly report in April 2019, far outstripping other reasons for absence.

Caring for yourself, means you can care for others better and for longer; it also teaches other generations of care providers that you as a person are important. All caregivers are valiant and crusaders, but you recharge your mobile phone more than you recharge yourself. Burnout is preventable, but you have to choose to want to prevent it by changing your beliefs, which in turn will help you see your blind spots, areas that are stopping you, then how to reset your thinking process to empower you, for a better future.

After attending this course, delegates will be able to:

- Identify negative thoughts and beliefs (change self talk)
- Prioritise areas in their life that they want to improve
- Practical strategies to use easily anywhere, anytime.

About our speaker:

Linda Sage MA, BA Ed(Hons) DTM

Successful Mindset & Resilience Expert, Trainer, Coach, International Speaker, & Author

As an eminent criminal psychologist, she had been working in most of the famous prisons in the UK with many of the most notorious prisoners in recent history. In a major burnout, Linda not only left her job, sold her house, burnt her corporate suits, she also moved countries as well. For 6 years she never spoke about her psychology background, needing to take time to repair and rebuild herself. In 2011, Linda took a 12-week contract in Saudi Arabia, which led to her staying there 6 and a half years. In that time she also started to mentor, train; present keynotes and seminars on the importance of emotional resilience, self-care and avoiding burnout. In 2017, Linda returned to England with a plan to finally launch her own company Successful Mindset Ltd, she published Caring for the Caregiver, a proactive book to help people who care about others to learn to care for themselves too. Linda is an award-winning international speaker, trainer, mentor and author. With practical, sustainable systems for enhancing emotional resilience, enabling change and enabling self-care. Her passion now is to share her knowledge, expertise and strategies with as many people as possible to help them avoid the trauma of burnout.
