Introduction to Compassion Focused Therapy

Friday 23rd June 2023

Leeds Venue TBC

9.00am Registration, 9.30am Welcome and 1.00pm, Close

Life can be very difficult for us and our clients. Compassion and the development of self-compassion can provide the support we all need to manage life's challenges. Following the work of Professor Paul Gilbert a leading expert in the field of Depression, "The Compassionate Mind" and "Mindful Self-Compassion" co-authored with Choden. This experiential workshop will enable delegates to understand more about Compassion Focused Therapy and how it can help reduce levels of shame and self-criticism which can maintain poor mental wellbeing. Using Compassionate Mind Training exercises, delegates will have the opportunity to engage in self-practice and self-reflection and so learn more about this powerful therapy which is developing a strong evidence base as a transdiagnostic approach.

After attending this course delegates will be able to

- Understand more about Compassion and how it can help support mental well-being.
- Develop experience of the three circles approach to emotional regulation used in CFT.
- Practice some key aspects of Compassionate Mind Training

About our speaker:

Maria Law has had a long career working in mental health, working as a CBT Psychotherapist for the past 18 years. After many years of working clinically with predominantly adults, Maria became a lecturer teaching CBT at The University of York, training clinicians to become CBT Psychotherapists. It was only on leaving this and returning to clinical practice that Maria gave herself time to fully engage with Mindfulness and Compassion Focused Therapy. Maria has benefitted hugely from this and over the last eight years this self-practice using compassionate mind training has become a vital part of her life and well-being. Maria continues to use CFT clinically within individual therapy, group therapy and through the training and supervision of other clinicians. Over the last six years Maria has been project lead for the compassion in school projects which is based on Dr Mary Welford's pioneering work using CFT as a whole school approach. Mary has supervised her in this work.
