

Assessment and Diagnosis of Dementia in People with Learning Disability

Thursday 17 June 2021

Virtual Event via Zoom

12.15pm Online Registration, 12.30pm Welcome and 4.30pm Close

In this talk we will draw on our experience of working with people with Learning Disability to help explain how to assess for dementia when the person has a learning disability (LD). We will discover what learning disability is, how dementia affects people with learning disability and explore using case studies and examples, the key skills and essential guidelines to assessing and diagnosing dementia in people with LD.

This course aims to provide delegates with:

- Understand the prevalence of dementia in people with Learning Disability (LD), including Down's Syndrome
- Importance of recognising when to suspect dementia in a person with LD
- Measures used in the assessment of dementia in people with LD

About Our Speaker:

Dr Alwyn Kam graduated from Manchester University with a degree in Biochemistry. He continued his education studying Medicine and maintained a keen interest in neurodevelopmental and neurocognitive subjects.
